Subject: MoE Directive and suspension of On-Campus classes

Dear Students

I hope this finds you well.

As you may already know by now, the Ministry of Education has issued a directive to all academic institutions to suspend their on-campus classes for a period of 4 weeks starting Sunday March 8, 2020.

The university scheduled Spring Break (March 21 to April 4) falls during the last two weeks of the on-campus suspension period.

While you should not be on campus, learning will continue for the next two weeks via distance learning utilizing Blackboard Learning Management System.

Your faculty will continue to deliver the remaining learning experiences for your courses via distance learning utilizing Blackboard Learning Management System.

This system will allow you to address your queries that will be attended regularly, submit your papers and homework materials when required, and receive any further updates on the course delivery and exams schedule.

We are committed and determined to deliver the full courses by end of the semester regardless whether it is through the Bb Learning Management System or on campus, should new directives from the Ministry of Education come across.

I count on your full commitment to attend these online courses and benefit from this alternative yet effective learning experience.

Thank you very much for your cooperation and support.

Regards,

Dr. Basem Alzahabi
President
